A Message From Our Chairman

The Stonach Group is committed to providing our customers with an entertainment experience that is second to none. Our core product is world-class racing and wagering – whether it's live and in person at one of our racetracks or transmitted electronically into the homes of our customers. We bring the excitement of horse racing to a global audience via our satellite television network as well as through our online wagering platform.

As one of America's leading racetrack owners and operators, The Stonach Group is also at the forefront of the movement to modernize and revitalize the sport of horse racing. We have built what we believe is the racetrack of the future at our Gulfstream Park property, an entertainment destination in the Sunshine State that combines world-class racing and wagering with a casino, live shows, retail shops, restaurants and bars. And we continue to introduce a number of innovations designed to enhance the entertainment experience for our customers while also drawing new fans to the sport.
